Challenges Kennedy

Sen. Johnson Wants Debate With Jack K.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson today challenged his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. John F. Kennedy, to a debate before the Massachusetts and Texas delegations.

Johnson, making a determined bid to stop the Kennedy bandwagon, told Kennedy in a telegram: "I am very happy to know that you are grateful for the support and friendship that your Southern friends gave you in 1956."

"It is interesting to know that you need them now. Personally, I believe that the problems before us are far too important to be determined on the basis solely of regional and sectional issues."

"As a firm believer in the Democratic process, especially as it relates to national party conventions, may I suggest that in response to your request we appear together before a joint session of the Texas and Massachusetts delegations in caucus and debate the major issues on which these bodies solemnly will act later this week."

Johnson proposed they meet at 3 p.m. today at a place to be determined.

The Texan's letter to Kennedy was in response to a request by the Massachusetts senator that he be permitted to appear before the Texas delegation.

Johnson released the correspondence at a news conference.

In response to questions, Johnson asserted that he believed the situation as to voting strength among the delegates "except for the headlines is about the same as when we came here."

He said there had been "a revolt" in the California delegation that had kept Kennedy from getting as great support there as Kennedy had anticipated.

On the other hand, Johnson said, Kennedy had received more backing in the Pennsylvania delegation than had been expected by those backing Johnson's candidacy.

Johnson treated the California and Pennsylvania results as amounting to a stand-off so far as the effect on Kennedy strength is concerned.

In the question and answer session, Johnson said he assumes "Kennedy would not be sending wires to Southern delegations" and soliciting support in that quarter "if he had it sewed up."

The Arkansas Highway Patrol said Seeley was traveling at a high rate of speed.

3 White Men Charged With Bombing

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Three white men were seized by the FBI early today and charged with trying to blow up a dormitory-classroom building at Philander Smith College for Negroes.

Two hours after the arrests, an explosion rocked a small warehouse of the Little Rock school district only 10 blocks from the Methodist Negro college. No one was hurt.

J. J. Casper, FBI agent in charge at Little Rock, said two of the men were caught as they were lighting a candle leading to a fuse in a small black box, loaded with 40 sticks of dynamite.

Police Chief R. E. Glasscock said his men had been guarding a number of public buildings in Little Rock for several days "for security reasons." He added police had learned of a plot to dynamite some buildings but did not elaborate.

Students of Philander Smith College last spring figured in a number of lunch counter sit-ins. But the school with an enrollment of 500 has dismissed regular classes for summer vacation. Only a few students are attending summer school classes.

Casper said he did not know how many students, if any, were in the college building when the bombing attempt was made shortly after midnight.

The FBI, who first announced the arrests in Washington, refused to say how it happened to have agents lying in wait.

Press Time Bulletins

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(P)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told African delegates today he plans to send the Congo a team of UN civilian administrators and police before the end of this week.

WASHINGTON (P)—Army reported today that five officers were killed and one is missing in the crash of a light transport plane in the Panama Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States tentatively ruled out today any thought of sending American troops alone to the riot torn Congo to meet an urgent request for help from the new African nation.

LOS ANGELES (P)—Kansas' Democratic delegation today refused to dump Gov. Docking as its favorite son candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

LOS ANGELES (P)—Sen. Stuart Symington's campaign manager insisted today that Sen. John F. Kennedy does not have the votes to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot.

Civil Rights Platform Up For a Vote

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Despite stiff Dixie opposition, the Democratic convention is expected to adopt tonight a platform containing the party's strongest stand yet on civil rights.

Delegates from nine Southern states filed a vehement protest that will be read to the convention, saying the civil rights declarations transgress state rights guarantees of the constitution.

"We do not propose to be bound by them and respectfully request that this statement of repudiation be entered upon the minutes of the convention," said the joint statement presented by Charles Bloch, Macon, Ga.

But Bloch rejected any idea the Georgia delegation would walk out in protest, although he said "I can't answer for" other Southern states.

Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, Platform Committee chairman, predicted the convention would accept the platform as written "with great enthusiasm." Bowles tried to minimize the idea of any party split or Southern convention bolt, saying: "I believe the party will stay together to help forge a victory in November."

Party strategists expressed doubts that the South, no matter how irked at their party platform, would go Republican in the fall. They reasoned that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would not chance wooing the South by a "soft" GOP civil rights plank, out of fear of losing the North.

The text of the Democratic platform is not to be made public until tonight, but many of its major provisions have been disclosed informally.

Nikita Threatens War

White House Accuses Reds

Say Reds Attempting to Create An International Incident

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The White House today accused the Soviet Union of "a deliberate and reckless attempt to create an international incident" in shooting down an American reconnaissance plane in the arctic.

At President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, press secretary James C. Hagerty also denied Russian claims that the plane was over Soviet territory when it was brought down July 1.

"The American RB47 plane was over international waters and at no time was over Soviet territory, Soviet territorial waters or Soviet air space," Hagerty said in a statement.

"The shooting down of this plane as the Soviet government alleges can only have been a deliberate and reckless attempt to create an international incident."

Hagerty also hit at efforts by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his government to liken the new plane episode to the U2 spy plane mission of last May.

"Any attempt to connect the flight of this aircraft with the U2 flight of May is completely without foundation and the Soviet authorities, including Mr. Khrushchev, know this."

Hagerty said the United States will make a formal reply later in the day to the official Soviet protest note delivered Monday to a U. S. Embassy official in Moscow. The press secretary said the American reply would be made public in Washington later today.

Macmillan Supporting Agreement

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan firmly supported today the agreement which allows U.S. military planes to use British bases. But he said he is talking with President Eisenhower about modifications in the operation.

He told the House of Commons that "occasional mistakes" have occurred in the operation of the agreement but that the broad principle of the cooperative arrangement remains essential for the deterrent strength of the West.

Macmillan spoke after consultations with his ministers on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's note calling Britain "a direct accomplice" in an American aggressive act—the sending of an American RB47 over what the Soviets claim was their territorial waters.

The plane shot down in the arctic July 1, took off from a British base.

Macmillan refused to be drawn into a detailed discussion of reconnaissance flights on the grounds that such matters never are open to debate in Parliament.

The British press called for assurance that Washington is consulting fully with the British government on the activities of U.S. planes using British bases.

Unemployed At Record High Mark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment rose by nearly one million in June as record numbers of summer job-seekers poured from school into the labor market, the Labor Department announced today.

But unprecedented numbers of them found work waiting, with the result that total employment soared by 1,400,000 to 68,579,000, the highest level in history.

This was about one million greater than a year ago. The comparison excludes Alaska and Hawaii, which were not counted in the Bureau of Labor Statistics tabulation last year.

The over-all labor force, civilian jobholders and jobseekers combined, rose by 2,300,000, of which all but about 100,000 were boys and girls 14 to 19 years old.

The unemployment rate, after allowing for seasonal trends, rose from May's 4.9 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

The gunman moved on.

Khrushchev Says Flights Are Heating the Existing Tension

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned today that resumption of American U2 spy flights over the Soviet Union would "heat the existing tension to boiling point and bring matters to the outbreak of war."

The Soviet premier gave this warning at a Kremlin news conference in answer to a question about the possibility of renewal of U2 flights. He did not elaborate.

Hoping Stu Will Accept Second Place

State Delegation Is Holding Firm; Outlook Not Good

By Robert E. Hennessee Of Our Washington Bureau

LOS ANGELES — As the Kennedy wagon rolled toward a first ballot nomination members of the Missouri delegation held out hopes that Senator Stuart Symington would be offered—and would accept—second place with Senator John Kennedy.

At the delegation caucus yesterday, Governor Blair and Symington's campaign manager, Rep. Charlie Brown asked the Missouri delegates to hold firm although the "picture isn't too good."

There is no doubt that, despite the certainty of Kennedy's victory, the delegation will stay with "Stu" as long as he likes.

Symington was asked at the "closed" caucus meeting if he had been approached to accept the Vice Presidential nomination. He stated clearly that he had not and that he was still a candidate for the top job. He said later he would rather continue in the Senate than be Vice President.

Members of the delegation with whom we talked would not admit publicly to even thinking about their man taking second place.

Privately, however, they knew the game was all but over and with it Symington's White House aspirations, and many were hopeful. (Please turn to page 2, column 7)

No Further Sign Of Kidnaped Youth

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—An intensive search of a wooded area north of Sydney has failed to turn up any further sign of 8-year-old Graeme Thorne, kidnapped last Thursday on the way to school.

A cap, raincoat, schoolbooks and part of a lunch belonging to the child were found Monday 8 miles north of the city. The area had been searched before, and police expressed belief the kidnaper had been there recently. There still was no word from the kidnaper beyond last Thursday's telephone call demanding $56,000 ransom.

By Sen. Frank Church

Keynoter Opens Convention With Charges Against GOP

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Peace, freedom, the fate of the world "all ultimately depend upon American principle, American prestige, and American power," Sen. Frank Church told the opening session of the Democratic convention Monday night.

And all these three bulwarks, he charged, have eroded to the danger point in seven years under President Eisenhower.

The lanky young Idaho senator set the tone for the coming presidential campaign in the keynote address to the convention, gathered for the first time in the cavernous Los Angeles Sports Arena.

His speech, cast in the traditional partisan pattern, poked scorn at administration domestic policies in the fields of farm programs, interest rates, public works programs.

Church derided GOP prosperity claims as "a pitch-man prosperity, the kind that results when government is run by hucksters not unaccustomed to selling inferior products by wrapping them in bright packages."

But he reserved his harshest indictment for the Eisenhower record in foreign policy. For more than seven years, he said, the President and his representatives "have staged it as though the world were a grandstand, where showmanship might be the easy substitute for statesmanship."

"Two ways of life—freedom and communism—are locked in mortal competition," Church said. "Until the debris has been cleared away from the wrecked summit conference in Paris, until the tumult that turned the President back from Tokyo is better understood, we cannot know, for sure, what form this competition may take."

"But this we do know: We shall either win it or lose it. There is no way out of it. History's verdict will be rendered. The days of our years will determine whether freedom shall endure."

He gave this assessment of how the Republican administration has guarded U.S. principle, prestige and power:

PRINCIPLE—"We have pinned medals upon the chests of hated dictators like Peron of Argentina (Please turn to page 2, column 9)

Convention Highlights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Here are highlights from the keynote address Monday night by Sen. Frank Church of Idaho to the Democratic national convention.

How urgent it is for us to demonstrate to all the watching world that democracy has the will to serve vital public needs. How ironic that our national administration should have fallen into the hands of the "hold-back" party, during the times that beseeched us to push ahead.

Do we have a wholesome prosperity? I submit it is a pitch-man prosperity, the kind that results when government is run by hucksters not unaccustomed to selling inferior products by wrapping them in bright packages.

The fact is that the "tight money" policies of this administration have sapped our vitality and shackled our economic growth.

During the Truman administration, our gross national product increased an average of 4.7 per cent each year. Under the Eisenhower administration, the increase has averaged only 2.3 per cent, less than half as much.

I say to you: The issue in the coming election is not Dwight Eisenhower, whether the "strong" or the "weak"; it is not Richard Nixon, whether the "new" or the "old"; the issue is our country's course—whether we can risk another four-year ride on the Republican train.

The President and his representatives, under the Constitution conduct our foreign policy. For over seven years they have staged it as though the world were a grandstand, where showmanship might be the easy substitute for statesmanship.

The Communists have seized a third of the world in 15 years! History does not record another conquest so large in so short a time. I submit to you that the fateful decisions taken in Washington today will determine whether or not our grandchildren shall be free.

We have helped to arm a fascist Franco in Spain, and a Communist Tito in Yugoslavia, until the world has been left to wonder if we still stand for freedom. And as traditional American principles have been obscured, a tide of suspicion and hostility rises against us.

We live in an age of science, when men equate national excellence with technological achievement. In such a competition, how could this country—the most highly industrialized and technically advanced in history—possibly stumble and fall behind? Well, during these Republican years, we've done it!

In these many ways we have watched our country shrink in stature, only to be told that Mr. Nixon, the single aspirant in either party who upholds the very policies that have led us into fiasco, is the man best qualified to lead us out!

Hoping

and Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, and when they were driven into exile, we were aghast at the stoning of our vice president on the streets of Caracas.

"We have carelessly furnished weapons to other petty tyrants, like Batista in Cuba. . . . We have helped to arm a fascist Franco in Spain, and a Communist Tito in Yugoslavia, until the world has been left to wonder if we still stand for freedom. And as traditional American principles have been obscured, a tide of suspicion and hostility rises against us."

PRESTIGE — "We have given freely of our treasure to help raise standards in far-flung parts of the world. . . . Yet, an over-emphasis on military aid has caused the hand, in many places, to be mistaken for a fist.

"Worse still, by allowing our surplus foods to pile up in massive quantities, by failing for too long to implement an imaginative 'food for peace' program, this administration has wrongfully permitted the ugly image to spread of a fat America hoarding food in a hungry world. . . ."

POWER — "Our Army has shrunk from 20 to 14 divisions. Our Navy has lost scores of fighting ships. We concede to the Russians superior numbers of intercontinental ballistic missiles, which we ourselves describe as the 'ultimate weapon'. Still, we are told by this administration that we need not match the Soviet Union in missile strength, for this would impose too heavy a strain upon us."

"In these many ways," Church added, "we have watched our country shrink in stature, only to be told that Mr. Nixon, the single aspirant in either party who upholds the very policies that have led us into fiasco, is the man best qualified to lead us out."

Turning to domestic issues, Church said "the heralded 'crusade' of 1952 brought only complacency back to Washington. . . . Once the new Eisenhower 'team' had been installed, Madison Avenue eagerly took charge, and a barrage of bland ballyhoo soon filled the land. Like a drug, if you please, it has tranquilized our leadership for over seven years."

He said the administration "has spent more money on its farm program than all previous administrations combined, from the time the Department of Agriculture was first established in 1862. Instead of declining, our surpluses have grown mammoth. Just to maintain them now costs us more than a billion dollars a year. . . ."

"Farm income has dropped 23 per cent since 1952, while costs have continued to rise, in a squeeze that has driven nearly five million people off the farms." Church said "one of the first acts of this administration, in 1953, was to raise the interest rates, a policy that has already cost the taxpayers 12 billion dollars just to pay the increased interest on the national debt."

He struck at Eisenhower's vetoes of many bills passed by the Democratic-controlled Congress.

"Twice the Congress has tried to give aid to depressed areas of chronic unemployment, and twice have the bills been vetoed. Twice, because of vetoes, we have seen an adequate public housing program cut below our minimal needs, and many have been the times that Congress has been frustrated in its efforts to deal with the worsening farm problem."

Your Eyes and Visual Functions

When is a child old enough to have an examination made of eyes and vision? This is a question optometrists are being asked with greater frequency as parents become more aware of the important role vision plays in the child's development.

The answer to this question is best answered by the fact that optometrists all over the country are reporting many more children being brought for examination in the pre-school years—some as early as their second and third year of age.

Vision specialists are noting problem conditions developing earlier than in former years. Many children coming for examination in their first or second school year are already myopic or border line myopes. Many others have not learned normal skill in fixation—focus—release and projection patterns while others have faulty eye and hand co-ordinations.

Optometry has developed many methods of improving visual skills and there is no better time than the pre-school years for examination, preventive and corrective training. You can give your child a head start by having a careful, analytical examination made at four or five, followed by periodical re-examinations to note progress and change at least once each year thereafter.

To all parents of children who will enter kindergarten or first grade this fall, the Missouri Optometric Association offers this earnest advice. Arrange now for a careful examination of the child's eyes. You will not only help to avoid the congestion that occurs in the late summer and early months of the school year, but if preventive or corrective work is needed, your child will be better prepared when school opens.

Living in a Fishbowl

Confession used to be good for the soul, but now it's better for the bank account. So points out an article in the current issue of Horizon magazine. The reference is to the high prices (as much as $750,000) paid by publishers for revelations of drug and alcohol addiction, mental illness, adultery, etc., which the public gobbles up. Outright crime may still not pay, but sin (the more detailed the better) is doing nicely, thank you.

The subject moves from there to the growing loss of privacy among all of us, as exemplified by plans to pipe canned music mixed with drug commercials into doctors' offices or to project wide-screen commercials on the clouds above our heads.

Frightening outlook, for as privacy moves out, so do modesty, taste and good manners. But the most frightening thing is that people seem to want it that way.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Kennedy Leaves Nothing to Chance

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES—The Kennedy family leaves nothing to chance. Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of Sen. Kennedy and TV star in "The Thin Man," corralled 100 Hertz drive-it-yourself cars in car-scare Los Angeles, plus 55 limousines. This was on top of 12 limousines reserved by Sen. Kennedy himself. When delegates want a lift to the convention hall, Kennedy cars can take them. . . . Kennedy has made a one-sided bet with Stewart Alsop of the Saturday Evening Post that he will pay $25,000 if he, Kennedy, runs for vice president on a Stevenson ticket. Kennedy made a firm commitment. Also agreed to pay nothing. . . . Opponents of Sen. Kennedy are still probing what it was that Bobby Kennedy held out to Gov. Mike Di Salle to make him swing all the Ohio delegates to the Kennedy camp six months before the convention. They're checking on a rendezvous Governor Di Salle is reported to have had in a Pittsburgh motel with Bobby Kennedy and John Bailey, Kennedy's leader in Connecticut. Bobby Kennedy, then counsel of the McClellan committee, had the power of subpoena and used it freely.

Top Candidates — Top Problems

Sometimes in politics people get kicked in the shins for doing what they didn't do, and belted over the head for being what they're not. To some extent this is true of the two top candidates, Lyndon Johnson and Jack Kennedy, regarding the two top issues facing the nation.

On the question of foreign affairs, Kennedy has been criticized as inexperienced and uncoragous. On the other top problem, the race issue, Johnson has been called soft on civil rights.

As I have watched these two men in the Senate, I would say that Kennedy has had great courage on foreign policy. I do not agree with Mrs. Roosevelt. He even led the unpopular fight for foreign aid to the satellite countries against the position taken by many of his own churchmen.

Johnson, on the other hand, has generally taken the easy course on foreign affairs. He has gone along with Ike's downward skidding foreign policy, and almost every time Ike has skidded further into a rut, Lyndon has slapped him on the back and wrapped the bi-partisan flag around his shoulders.

Johnson's Critics

However, when it comes to solving the most important domestic problem facing the United States, it is my opinion that Johnson would do a courageous, constructive job in ironing out the bitterness that has upset the south. Many Negro leaders have been critical of Johnson. Their criticism isn't half as virulent as that of his own southern friends when he bulldozed the civil rights bill through the Senate last winter. This was only the second civil rights bill in history to be adopted, and Johnson was largely responsible for passing both.

This brought cries of outrage from the south.

"Lyndon Johnson Becomes Eyesore in U.S. Politics," wrote the Mobile Register. "Smart Johnson Maneuver May Hurt Him in South," criticized the Pensacola Journal, while the Florida Times Union editorialized: "South Grows Crip of Machiavelli." . . . "The Second Face of Lyndon," was the way the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle described Johnson. The Macon, Ga., Telegraph advised "South

Would Look About for Johnson Replacement." . . . The Jackson (Miss.) News was the most vitriolic of all. Its editorial was captioned: "Lyndon Johnson, the Traitor." . . . The Columbia (S.C.) State called Lyndon's civil rights move a "Slick Trick," while the Anderson (S.C.) Independent warned: "Lyndon Johnson Could Outsmart Himself." . . . And the Nashville Banner, putting Johnson in the same category as "Such Highbinders as Humphrey, Douglas, Javits, and Morse," said "Today the South Sees Johnson for What He Is."

Note—What's needed to solve the racial problem is statesmanship and understanding. Johnson has both.

Roosevelt Family Split
The Roosevelt family, except for youngest son John, who bolted to the Republicans, has stood like a rock together behind the same candidates. The issue of Jack Kennedy, however, split the family wide open.

The matriarch, Eleanor Roosevelt, made her opposition to Sen. Kennedy quite clear in her Saturday Evening Post series March 8, 1958, when she said Kennedy had dodged the issue of McCarthyism. Later, on ABC's College Press Conference, she was even more blunt.

"It has seemed to me that what you wanted in your next president was someone whose courage in taking stands was unquestioned. I don't think I need repeat here what I have said about Sen. Kennedy a great many times."

Mrs. Roosevelt's third son, Franklin Jr., soon deserted his mother and came out for Kennedy. It's been widely reported that he will be Secretary of the Navy in the Kennedy cabinet. Later Mrs. Roosevelt's eldest son, Jimmy, also deserted. He too came out for Kennedy. It was less widely reported that Kennedy had talked to him about running for vice president.

Anyway, the head of the Roosevelt family is still standing pat for Stevenson.

Two Key Pennsylvanians
On small things turn the picking of Presidents. The two top political leaders of Pennsylvania, Congressman Bill Green of Philadelphia and Gov. David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, come from opposite ends of the state and don't particularly like each other. But both are Catholics, both Democrats, and up to a point have to get along with each other.

Green can pull the rug out from under Lawrence's shaky support in the state legislature any time. Lawrence has been against Kennedy, feels that too many Catholics on a Democratic ticket would elect Republicans. Lawrence, who did a great job as mayor of Pittsburgh, wants to do an equally constructive job as governor of Pennsylvania. But he can't do it without controlling his legislature.

Green, who bosses the politics of heavily Catholic Philadelphia, doesn't worry about the rest of the state. Privately he has favored Kennedy. On how these two city bosses solve their differences will depend the vote of Pennsylvania's huge 81-vote delegation, which in turn may decide the presidency of the United States.

Gas Rationing for Cuba?
Even if Soviet Russia mobilizes its entire tanker fleet to rush crude oil to Fidel Castro's Cuba, it will not prevent a critical shortage in the island republic.

At present, Cuban petroleum needs total about 250,000 barrels a month. The most the Russians can deliver on a crash-program basis is somewhat less than 180,000 barrels monthly.

Previously, Venezuela provided almost 97 per cent of Cuban oil supplies. These have now been shut off.

Fidel's agents have been busily negotiating behind the scenes to obtain crude oil from Mexico and Iraq. Result of the dickers is still unknown, but uncommitted surpluses of those two countries, as of June 1, added up to only about 20,000 barrels a month.

A shortage of 50-70,000 barrels per month would force Castro to ration gasoline drastically. Informed Havana sources say this would mean cutting private car owners to five gallons a week or less, with even that dribbled in jeopardy every time a tanker was delayed a few days en route to Cuba.

The reason why private autos would take the full brunt of such rationing is that Castro cannot afford to curtail the supply of fuel oil, which operates nearly every industrial plant in the country. In addition, Castro's army will need heavy supplies of gasoline for its motorized forces.

The Cuban government's Petroleum Institute is working around the clock to bring in a few fairly promising oil wells scattered through the island's northeastern area, and to increase output of the very meager producers now in operation. These dredge up a total of only about 120 barrels a day.

However, though Russian and Romanian oil experts have been directing the intensive search for new domestic fields, nothing really worth while has been found so far. The prospects are that, by September 1, private cars will be as scarce on Cuba's roads as horse-drawn wagons in New York.

Pangs of a New Revolutionary Era

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 1960 political conventions, although they figure to be the dullist in years, are in a very real sense part of the birth pangs of a new and revolutionary era.

It will be a double revolution—in men and events.

1. Almost everywhere around the world before the end of the 1960s a new, younger generation of men will have become the new leaders, none of whom was a dominant figure only 15 years ago when World War II ended.

2. The struggle between the United States and communism has within the past few months entered a new, intense, and unpredictable phase which will require new American vision, efforts, methods and strategy.

The Democratic convention this week and the Republican convention later this month will blaze the way toward the new leadership when they pick their presidential candidates.

Almost certainly the Democrats will name Sen. John F. Kennedy, 43, while the Republicans will choose Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 47. Only 15 years ago neither of them held any public office nor was known.

The older generation of leaders—all of whom were dominant figures by the end of the war—is coming to an end, either through retirement or through the disability or death which is the product of old age.

President Eisenhower's term ends six months from now. Time eventually will force out such others as France's President Charles de Gaulle, West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek, Red China's Mao Tse-tung, India's Prime Minister Nehru, and even Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Kennedy has already spoken at some length on the leadership problems ahead. Nixon says he is waiting until nominated to announce his own programs.

Even if Nixon were inclined to follow Eisenhower's conservative policy at home and Eisenhower's foreign policy, which was simply an extension of former President Truman's foreign policy, events would compel a change.

For example: In the past few months relations between the United States and the Soviet Union have reached their lowest point in years; tiny Cuba has become a major problem through Russian interference; this country will have to make efforts perhaps far broader and more intense than any ever made before to keep Latin America on the side of the United States.

There will be the task of devising some new means, hardly considered necessary until very recently, to keep the new republics of Africa out of communism; to prevent communism from getting ahead in weapons; to stand off Red China which in these next 10 years will probably become powerful and aggressive in a way unimagined now.

In these next 10 years, unless the signs are wrong, the world may be in turmoil yet undreamed of.

Rigid Diet Has Little or No Effect on Gout Sufferers

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

No cow has ever eaten anything that remotely resembles roast beef or a sirloin steak.

No pig is ever served anything resembling bacon.

There's nothing like egg yolk, egg white, white meat or dark meat in chicken feed.

And the family that sits down to the same meals each day may include a chubby little girl and a skinny boy, a mother who's pleasing plump and a father who can't get anything "to stick to his ribs."

This is my way of saying that there's more to the science of metabolism (body chemistry) than mere dietetics. And, by the same token, there's more to metabolic diseases than the mere matter of the kind of food (food) that's put on the fire.

Take for example the condition we call gout. As a Canadian reader writes to me, "the consensus of opinion seems to be that it's the result of having lived 'high.' Yet he goes on to say:

"The real facts are that I do not live 'high' and, in fact, have restricted my diet for years. I do not drink or smoke. But still, as of Friday last, I continue to suffer attacks. Will you please advise me about diet? Especially the items I ought not eat."

At risk of arousing some dieticians, I'm going to let my Canadian friend in on a little secret. This side of gluttony, I don't think it makes much difference what he eats or drinks so far as his gout is concerned.

My experiences have quite convinced me of the truth of Dr. A. B. Gutman's conclusion that "there is no acceptable evidence that an onerous (burdensome) purine free diet significantly alters the natural course of gout. It is still a matter of opinion whether dietary restrictions of any kind should be imposed upon he patient with gout."

Here are just a few of the reasons for our belief that gout is a METABOLIC disorder that bears no more relationship to diet than does animal feed to the products they contribute to our tables:

Attacks of gout are observed in the poor as well as the overstuffed rich. Typical gout has been seen in vegetarians and teetotallers.

Gout is a familiar disturbance that rarely affects females who presumably eat the same food as the males of the family.

Of gout sufferers, 96 per cent are males whose wives rarely (if ever) suffer the same complaint though they, too, presumably eat about the same food.

Attacks of gout often are produced by nondietary factors such as accidents, surgery and doses of certain drugs.

Many nongouty persons have higher blood levels of uric acid than gouty persons during an attack.

Attacks of gout may be controlled by injections of substances that possess some of the properties of the pituitary gland.

Attacks may be prevented by regular doses of a nontoxic drug (Benemid) under doctor's supervision with or without adherence to a rigid diet.

But please don't quote me to your dietitian.

A FRIEND CALLED a woman who was giving a pink and blue shower and asked her if there was anything she could do to help or could bring.

"Yes," said the woman who was giving the shower. "Get some napkins for me and some nut cups and be sure you get pink and blue."

The friend said she would and then a day or so later she called the woman again. "Now you wanted me to get napkins and nut cups," she said. "Is there anything else?"

"No," the hostess told her. "But be sure that you get pink and blue napkins and nut cups—that is the color scheme, of course."

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Campaign Continues For Drunk Driver Law

A campaign to place a "drunk driver law" on the November ballot by initiative petition has failed, but the campaign for the law continues.

Both major sponsors, the Missouri Committee For A Drunk Driver Law, Fulton, and the Missouri Safety Council, Jefferson City, gave up the ghost on the petition effort last week. Ironically enough, both sponsors had to quit just after the Fourth of July weekend whose traffic fatality toll reached near record proportions with many deaths attributable to drinking drivers.

Somewhat more than 22,000 Missourians petitioned to get the law on the November ballot, but around 60,000 names were needed.

Ralph Kahlerlosh, director of the Missouri Safety Council, said "not enough time coupled with a lack of county and district organization" is to blame for the petition failure. Both he and Clyde Burch, chairman of the Fulton committee, emphasized that the failure was not due to opposition by Missourians to a drunk driver law.

"Our 22,000 signatures represent the voice of the people in every congressional district and indicate that the public is ready for drinking driver legislation," Kahlerlosh asserted. He said, "It is the responsibility of the legislature to consider and take affirmative action on some type of legislation to control the drinking driver who, as past records indicate, is involved in one-third of Missouri's fatal accidents."

Both the Missouri Safety Council and the Missouri Committee For A Drunk Driver Law are formulating plans to carry the campaign for a drunk driver law to the next legislature. The Fulton committee urges all petitioners and other interested to contact candidates for the legislature meanwhile and "find out how they stand on this proposed legislation." The Safety Council wants to contact by letter as many petitioners as possible, urging their continued active support.

The proposed law would require alcohol blood tests of suspected drunk drivers and would set up scientific standards for determining drunkenness. It already has been endorsed by the Missouri Police Chiefs Association, the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Methodist Church.

State Finances Are Close To Predictions
During the fiscal year which ended June 30, Missouri took into its general revenue fund $197,780,807.40 which was about three million dollars more than predicted.

Cash balance was $32,067,604.51 which was about three million dollars more than at the same time last year.

"I will," the friend assured her, "And I'll be there early to help."

Well, things came up that delayed her and she was just about the last person to arrive—but she had the napkins and nut cups—yes siree—

The hostess was glad she finally got there with them and opened the package up quickly. "Oh, no," she said as she stared at the napkins and nut cups. The girl must have been color blind, for the napkins and nut cups she brought for the pink and blue shower were, not blue and pink—they were yellow and green.—H.L.

Most taxes received into the general revenue fund somewhat exceeded expectations. Exceptions were the corporation franchise tax, county collectors' tax and beer tax, but at that these exceptions brought in more than in the previous fiscal year.

Only taxes which brought in less this time than last was that on liquor and the inheritance tax.

As for liquor and beer taxes, both often are thought of together and are expected to bring in around seven million dollars a year between them. They did so again this year as they have for many, many years past.

During the past fiscal year, the state disbursed by warrants from its general revenue fund a total of $119,676,402.17. It also transferred from the general revenue fund to various other funds a total of $75,349,143.17, the lion's share going to the state school monies fund. Together, this can be considered what Missouri spent from general revenue.

As it looks now, Missouri's net cash balance when appropriations for the present biennium lapse at the end of next year likely will be somewhere near 28 to 30 million dollars. When appropriations for the previous biennium lapsed, net cash balance was 24 million dollars.

Few Copies Available Of New Laws Book

The Laws of Missouri 1959 have been published by the Secretary of State and copies are unusually scarce.

Since the Revised Statutes of Missouri 1959 will be out in the Fall, and will incorporate the Laws 1959, the legislature directed that only 1000 copies of the Laws be published, rather than 6000 as usual. The supply may have been cut a bit too thin.

After the Secretary of State finishes distributing the Laws to the legislature, the Supreme Court for exchange with other states, libraries and county office holders, few will be left. Ordinarily, what is left is available in each county from the circuit clerk.

Despite about an 85 per cent cut back in number of copies, savings amounted to only about 35 per cent. Lack of quantity buying perhaps mostly accounts for this. The Laws this time cost $11.924.

matter of FACT

Imagine scholars' surprise when they found that the oldest clay document they had yet uncovered was a scene where a primitive form of beer was being brewed. This piece of clay showed that in ancient Babylon, about 6000 B.C. the brewmaster was an important man. Beer was an important food item in the daily diet of Egypt in 3000 B.C. Even the strat-laced Pilgrims were partly convinced to land at Plymouth Rock as one 1622 manuscript said, "For we could not now take time for further search or consideration; our victuals being much spent, especially our beer. . . ."

Pickpockets Are Biggest LA Problem

By BOB THOMAS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convention lowlights:

Biggest police problem at the Biltmore Hotel are the pickpockets, known to the Joe Friday types as daps. The jam-packed corridors are happy hunting grounds for them. Delegates may lose their cash, but they get their wallets back; the light-fingered fellows always drop the evidence in a potted palm or elsewhere. Result of the dragnet so far: five dipniks.

Lobby sound: A woozy wino wearing buttons of all of the candidates and singing in a fog-horn voice, "Hallelujah, I'm a bum."
He got no arguments.

Sectionalism has reared its eager head. Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins, permanent chairman of the convention, is having fresh orange juice flown in from Florida. As if that wasn't a big enough blow to local pride, Los Angeles also turned on a touch of its infamous smog Monday.

Subversive note on a parading placard: "Be truly Democratic—

The Symington forces have switched strategy in midcampaign.
They had been giving out wrapped bandages marked "Stick with Symington." This led to comments that the back-running Stu might need them for his own wounds.
Now the Missourians are dispensing Chinese cookies with this slogan inside: "We're for Stu. How about you?"

Blind leading blind: Out-of-towners often get a blank look when telling cabbies their destinations. Reason is that 300 drivers were recruited to shuttle visitors around this taxi-poor town. One new hand had to phone headquarters to learn the location of a large hotel.

campaigning for Marilyn. They

Survivors Face Trial

Nikita Says Crewmen Admit They Were On Spy Mission

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed today that the two surviving crewmen of the U.S. reconnaissance plane shot down in the arctic by a Soviet fighter admitted they were on a spy mission.

Khrushchev told a news conference in the Kremlin that the survivors—1st Lt. John R. McCone, 38, of Tonganoxie, Kan., and 1st Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y., —had admitted their RB47 "was to have flown along the northern frontiers of the Soviet Union on an espionage mission."

Khrushchev said that since the plane was stopped as it began its intrusion over Soviet territory,
"the Soviet government limited itself to destroying the aircraft."

"The surviving members of the crew will be brought to court in accordance with Soviet laws," he continued. "Let the provocateurs and the executors of their ill will not count on such actions going unpunished."

After the plane disappeared
July 1, the U.S. Air Force said it was surveying electromagnetic fields in arctic waters to gain information for improved navigational maps. There has been no reply so far from the United States to the Soviet charge that the plane was spying, first made Monday in the Soviet announcement that the six-jet aircraft had been shot down.

The incident, Khrushchev asserted, "testified that the U.S. government has not abandoned the policy of committing acts of aggression against the Soviet Union."

Says Business Lack, Financial Ability Has Keep Prosperity Down

KANSAS CITY (AP)—William B. Ewald, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, says Missouri hasn't prospered under its last four governors because of a lack of business and financial ability in the state house.

"If this state is to share fully in the present national prosperity its government must be run like the business it is," Ewald, a state representative from Kirkwood, told about 40 persons at a meeting Monday night.

He said an efficient government can lead to prosperity without increasing taxes to finance state projects.

Watch Winner Named In Bank Drawing

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — In 1943, when he was an instructor at Hancock Aeronautical College in Santa Maria, Vernon Agee had a cadet named S. Ernest Van-dover.

Vandover came back to California the other day and he and Agee had their first visit in 17 years.

"What are you doing these days?" Agee asked his visitor.
"Oh," said Vandover, "I've got a job in Georgia. I'm the governor."

Vandover is in California for the Democratic convention.

Eating Evergreens?

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)— Someone at a drive-in eating establishment called Albuquerque police and complained that a man was outside "eating the evergreens."

Officers arrested a 41-year-old man standing in front of the place with a mouth full of pine needles.

"Obviously drunk," said the police report.

"The American people," he continued, "like the whole world public, must know the truth. They must know that the U.S. government is conducting a dangerous game with the destinies of the world, the destinies of the peoples."

In an opening statement,
Khrushchev repeated the Foreign Ministry's account Monday that the U.S. plane intruded over Soviet territorial waters near Svyatzy Nos Cape, a 10-mile projection into the Barents Sea from the Kola Peninsula; that it headed for Archangel, the Soviet arctic seaport 240 miles to the south; and that it failed to follow signal orders from a Soviet fighter plane to follow it and land.

"After that," Khrushchev's statement said, "in accordance with the orders given to the armed forces of the Soviet Union on guarding the Soviet frontiers, our fighter was compelled to open fire on the aircraft and brought it down."

"Later, two members of the crew of the shot-down American plane were found in Soviet territorial waters, the navigator and the second pilot.

"From their depositions it became known that the six-engine RB47 plane left an American military base on British territory and was to have flown along the northern frontiers of the Soviet Union on an espionage mission and then to return to Britain."

Khrushchev described the incident as "a new act of perfidy on the part of the U.S. government."

"The provocative flight of the American RB47 military aircraft shows that the assurances of President Eisenhower in Paris
last May, on the discontinuation of spy flights into the confines of the Soviet Union, are not worth a penny."

Stymied 9th Inning AL Threat

Alston Stages Law on Mound In All-Star Sweep Attempt

NEW YORK (AP) — National League Mgr. Walter Alston will go for an All-Star sweep Wednesday with Vern Law, another member of the Pittsburgh staff that led to the 5-3 first-game victory over the American League at Kansas City Monday in sweltering 100-degree heat.

Law threw seven pitches in stopping a ninth-inning threat and preserved the victory for teammate Bob Friend, who pitched one-hit ball for three shutout innings. It was the NL's 12th victory in 28 midsummer meetings with the AL and the second for Friend against one defeat.

Relief artist Elroy Face, third mound member of the Pirate All-Star cast, earlier had stopped another serious American League threat by getting Luis Aparicio to bounce into sixth inning double play with the bases loaded.

The trio from the league-leading Pirates worked a combined 5 1-3 innings, allowing no runs and only one hit, a second inning single by Baltimore's Ronnie Hansen off Friend.

American League Mgr. Al Lopez, who used six pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the National League power, indicated he would send southpaw Whitey Ford to the New York Yankees to the mound in the second game at Yankee Stadium. Left-handers generally are more effective at the Yankee park than at Kansas City, with its short left field fence that was cleared three times in the first game.

Ernie Banks, NL home run and RBI leader, slammed the first home run, off starter Bill Monbouquette of Boston, with a man on base in the first inning to feature a three-run attack that hung the defeat on the Red Sox' youthful right-hander.

Palmer Still First In Money Winnings

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Golf's top moneyman of 1960, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., still is more than $30,000 ahead of second-place Dow Finsterwald.

Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., upped his earnings last week by $600 to bring his total to $36,100 for this season. Palmer's earnings for the year stand at a whopping $66,600.

In third place is Ken Venturi with $31,700.

Dei Crandall, Milwaukee catcher, walloped the other NL homer, a solo shot in the second inning. This, too, was hit off Monbouquette, who was tagged for five hits and four runs before giving way to Baltimore's Chuck Estrada in the 'bird.

Willie Mays, the great center fielder of the San Francisco Giants, got two of those hits, a first-inning triple and a second-inning single. He doubled later, off New York's Jim Coates, and came within several feet of becoming the first man in All-Star competition to hit for the cycle. His drive to right off Cleveland's Gary Bell in the sixth was snared by Harvey Kuenn of Cleveland with a leaping catch.

The National League collected 12 hits to the AL's six, all but one of them was in the first five innings when they scored all their runs for a 5-0 lead.

The American League used a record number of 25 players, but only six of them hit safely against the five NL pitchers. The big blow was an eighth inning home run by Detroit's Al Kaline off Milwaukee right-hander Bob Buhl. The drive came after Kuenn had reached base on an error and reduced the NL's lead to 5-3.

The Americans, who had been held to only one hit in the first five innings, threatened to pull the game out of the fire in the last of the ninth. With one out, Baltimore's Jim Gentile singled off Buhl, after catcher Smoky Burgess of Pittsburgh had dropped his foul popup, and Jim Lemon of Washington walked.

Alston, who skippered the Los Angeles Dodgers to a pennant last year, then summoned Law from the bullpen. The big Mormon right hander got Baltimore's Brooks Robinson to raise an easy fly to center and then disposed of Kuenn on a liner to right, where Roberto Clemente, still another Pittsburgher, caught the ball for the final out.

The first AL threat came in the sixth when they scored a run off Giant southpaw Mike McCormick on Nellie Fox's single after they had loaded the bases on one of four NL errors, Bill Skowron's single, and a walk.

With the bases still full and only one out, Face replaced McCormick and put out the fire by getting the fleet-footed Aparicio to ground sharply to shortstop Ernie Banks, who started the inning ending double play.

In all, 49 of the 60 players took part in the first All-Star game ever played in Kansas City. The nationally televised game netted $183,892.13, which goes into a fund that supports the player pension plan. The $250,000 TV and radio receipts also goes into the fund.

Only nonplayers besides the pitchers were Cincinnati catcher Ed Bailey and Cleveland first baseman Vic Power.

Power upset the usually calm-mannered Lopez by leaving the bench without permission in the middle of the game after he had earlier complained of illness.

"I could have used Power had he been available," explained Lopez later. "I looked for him to replace Skowron at first base in the sixth inning, but he wasn't on the bench. One of the players told me he had gone into the clubhouse in the third inning. I sent for him twice but each time he refused, saying he was sick. When we came into the clubhouse after the game, he had dressed and gone."

Power, arriving late at the park, told Lopez he had suffered dizzy spells during the night. Lopez advised him to get into uniform anyway.

"We might need you later in the game, especially on defense," Al told Power.

Among the records set were a couple by Mays. His triple was the third in eight All-Star appearances, more than any other performer. He scored his 10th run in the first inning to tie St. Louis' Stan Musial and Boston's Ted Williams.

WA Whips Rotary; 2nd Game Called

Western Auto drubbed Rotary 12-5, and the McCown's - Anderson's game was called after five and a half innings because of the curfew in Monday night's Babe Ruth action.

Rotary scored five times in the first inning, but Larry Meredith replaced starter Gary Finnell and slammed the door in Rotary's face while Western Auto romped to a 12-5 victory.

Meredith allowed only two hits and no runs before the game was called in the third because of the seven-run rule.

Meredith and Green each had two hits for W-A. Errors helped Western Auto considerably as they got only eight hits.

Anderson's led McCown's, 10-8, when the curfew cut their game short after five and a half innings. It will be played from the point of suspension at a later date.

Last place Anderson's were seeking their first win of the season, and McCown's leads the league with a 7-1 record.

Ron Miller pitched and hit his team to the 10-8 lead. McCown's has one more time at bat in which to pull the game out of the fire.

Van Dyne Fires a 75 In Trans-Mississippi; Kansan Leads Field

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Dean Smith, 23-year-old Wichita law student at Boston University, stroked 23-34-68 to equal the competitive course record in qualifying play in the 57th annual Trans - Mississippi Men's Golf tournament today.

Young Nick Onofrio of Wichita had paced earlier finishers in the field of 200 players with a 72, two over par on the 6,615-yard Wichita Country Club course.

Another round Tuesday will set the championship and lower flights for match play.

Van Dyne, Sedalia, Mo., turned in a 75 today. Other earlier lows included Pat Hogan, Wichita, 77; Vernon Batchelor, Wichita, 79; Otis Smith, Wichita, 81; Bob Rice, Lyons, Kan., 82; Howard Engleman, Salina, Kan., 84.

Dean Smith, Wichita, and Fred Brown, Los Angeles, were one under par with 34s for the initial nine.

Absence of Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, two - time winner and 1959 titlist, assured the meet of a new champion.

Signs for Fifteenth Year With Red Wings

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, five times the National Hockey League's most valuable player, today signed a contract for his 15th season with the Detroit Red Wings.

The 32-year-old right winger, the NHL's all-time leading point-maker, was the first Red Wing to come to terms for the 1960-61 campaign. Howe's salary was not disclosed.

Howe is aiming to become the first NHL player to reach the 1,000-point mark during the 1960-61 season. He needs only 23 more points, about two normal months of work for him.

Palmer to Skip Tourney to Get Rest, Practice

COOPERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Golfing great Arnold Palmer said today he's skipping the Western Open tourney in Detroit beginning Thursday because he needs rest and practice with the larger American ball for the PGA tournament in Akron, Ohio, July 21.

"The Western is a good and big tournament, and I'd love to play in it," Palmer said. "But it almost would be ridiculous to try to play and do any good."

Palmer, U.S. Master and Open Golf champion who just missed a triple slam when he lost the British Open last week by a single stroke, arrived in New York Monday night after a flight from Paris.

Then he flew to this tiny eastern Pennsylvania community where his wife and two daughters were awaiting him.

"Western Open officials are hopeful they can get you in the tournament," Palmer was told.

"No," he answered. "I've got a house full of mail, and I've been a little tired. I've just got to get some rest if I expect to do any good and do justice to the PGA. I've got to get back to playing the larger ball."

A smaller ball was used in the British Open, as is customary.

Dean Smith Ties Course Record; Gets Early Lead

WICHITA (AP) — Dean Smith of Wichita clipped two strokes from par, equalled the course record and grabbed a one - stroke lead in the opening medal-play round of the Trans - Mississippi Men's Golf Tournament Monday.

The 23 - year - old law student at Boston University stacked a 34-34 - 68 against the 35-35-70 par for the 6,640 - yard layout at Wichita Country Club.

Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., recent winner of the British Amateur, was a stroke behind Smith at 69. Bob Cochran of St. Louis, runner-up to Beman in the British event, was bracketed at 70 with John Garrett of Houston.

The 200 entrants play another medal round today and the low 64 start match play Wednesday for the championship.

The others within 10 strokes of Smith included:

71 — Ben Lane Jr., Amarillo; Charles Cody, Stamford, Tex.; Jack Cupit, Houston; Labron Harris Jr., Stillwater, Okla., and Bill Nickles, Los Angeles.

Teenagers, Stars Dominate Field in Trans-Mississippi

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — If the youngsters don't run the show in the 30th annual Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament, it won't be because they're outmumbered.

Teen-agers and stars in their early 20s dominated the field today as match play started over Kenwood Country Club's Kenview course with women's par of 37-37-74.

A glance through the match play field of 64 showed it filled with players who, in the last couple of years or so, have won various high school, junior, and intercollegiate titles.

It shaped up as a wide-open battle for the title won last year by veteran Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa.

On the basis of Monday's qualifying round, the top contender had to be Carol Mann, 19, of Flossmoor, Ill., who is giving up college to play golf regularly.

Casey Has Praise For Henry Hank, His Conqueror

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Strange as it may seem, middleweight Hank Casey had nothing but praise today for Henry Hank of Detroit, his conqueror in their rematch here.

Hank, number four-ranking contender for Gene Fullmer's title, evened the score as he earned a unanimous decision Monday night over his smooth-boxing opponent from Los Angeles. Hank said he wanted a title bout.

"I think Hank could beat any middleweight in the world today and that includes Fullmer and Paul Pender," Casey said as he nursed a split left eyelid after the 10-rounder.

"But I sure would like to meet him again and I think I could beat him," Casey added.

Casey, ranked No. five, said he lost some steam after the 7th round when a butt opened a gash over his left eye. The blood flowed freely until the end of the match.

Hank was jubilant over the outcome. He said he thought Casey "is as good a middleweight as there is in the business."

"But right now I'm going after Fullmer or Pender," he said. "I'll take either one."

Pender is recognized as middleweight champ in New York and Massachusetts.

Hank started by trying for a quick knockout. But Casey more than matched his power and a stinging left jab kept Hank at Bay.

Referee Roland Brown and Judge Battling Fergie scored it 6-3-1. Judge Eddie Brown had Hank in front 5-3-2. The AP scorecard showed Casey the winner 6 rounds to 4.

Heat Gets Attention Of NL Winners

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 100-degree heat, not the American League All-Stars, got the full attention of the winning National League stars after Monday's 5-3 victory in torrid Municipal Stadium.

"I don't think I could have kept my good stuff very much longer," winning pitcher Bob Friend of Pittsburgh commented after the game. "Three innings was plenty. I just moved the ball around and went with my best stuff. These hitters don't have many weaknesses, anyway."

Friend pitched one-hit ball through the first three innings while his mates took a 5-0 lead, including four runs off loser Billy Monbouquette of Boston on homers by Ernie Banks (with one on) and Del Crandall (none on) after Willie Mays' triple and Bob Skinner's single scored the first run.

Losing Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, winless in five All-Star appearances as a player and manager, wouldn't second-guess his choice of a starting pitcher.

"I still think Bill was the logical fellow for me to start," he said. "He's had great stuff lately and was well rested. Perhaps he was a bit nervous at the start," Lopez added, explaining the Nationals' early spurge.

"The heat was something," Lopez said. "It hit us all of a sudden. It had been fairly cool in Chicago and in the East where most of these fellows had been playing."

National League Manager Walter Alston, playfully wiping the brow of center-fielder Mays, was brief.

"We got the early hitting. I never got that hitting before in All-Star games," the Los Angeles skipper, now 2-2 in the mid-season classic, remarked.

Vern Law, of Pittsburgh, was Alston's probable choice to start for the Nationals in New York Wednesday. He had to put down a threat by the AL in the ninth inning Monday by getting the last two outs with the tying run on base.

Harvey Kuenn, who made the final out of the game when he lined to right-fielder Bob Clemente, was most unhappy.

"The first ball I swung at was the one I should have hit," the Cleveland outfielder said. "That one would have gone out of the lot. It was a breaking pitch and I just didn't get it."

Thursday with the field due for a trim to the low 70s and ties. Another cut at 54 holes will take the field down to 50 and ties for the final 18 holes Sunday.

Lucille Maunders Medalist in Women's Meet at Elm Hills

Lucille Maunders fired a 39 for medalist honors last Thursday in an invitational tournament at Elm Hills course. The Elm Hills Ladies Golf Association invited the ladies of Sedalia Country Club to the tournament which began with a get acquainted coffee. Pairings were made, and the 9-hole matches began at 9 a.m.

Other winners for Country Club were Dorothy Hopkins, first low scratch with a 44. Hazel Browns was awarded a pair of golf socks for taking 13 putts for the nine holes. Clara Bell Feig's name was drawn from a hat, good for an award of three golf balls.

Elm Hills winners were Evelyn Watson, first low scratch, and Dolores Gerlecz, second low scratch. Special events included Helen Evans and Betty Rodick, and Bess Leslie's name was drawn from a hat for an award of three golf balls.

Lucy Maunders won a golf glove for her low score.

The awards were presented after a luncheon at 1 p.m.

57th Western Open This Week at Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The tradition-packed Western Open has its 57th running this week and a dramatic finish is almost a certainty.

Most of the nation's leading golfers will be shooting for the $5,000 top prize that Mike Souchak captured last year at Pittsburgh in the $25,000 event.

The big slugger came from five strokes back with a 65 that nipped Arnold Palmer by a single stroke. The year before, Doug Sanders collected five birdies on the last hole at Detroit's Red Run Club and shaded Dow Finsterwald.

Souchak and nearly 100 other pros were exempt from today's qualifying round. There were 130 golfers competing in the 18-hole qualifying round for 60 places in the tournament which begins Thursday with the field due for a trim to the low 70s and ties.

Another cut at 54 holes will take the field down to 50 and ties for the final 18 holes Sunday.

Demand Assurance That US Is Checking With Macmillan

LONDON (AP) — Demands mounted in Britain today for firm assurance that Washington is consulting fully with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government on the activities of American planes flying from British bases.

That was the first reaction to the Soviet claim to have shot down another U.S. reconnaissance aircraft over Soviet territory.

The missing RB47 took off from the U.S. air force base at Brize Norton, England, and many Britons want to know whether its flight was first sanctioned by Macmillan.

In a note to Macmillan's government, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev accused Britain of being a "direct participant" in aggressive American acts and with assuming heavy responsibility for the possible consequences.

Macmillan faces a barrage of questions on this and the U2 incident in the House of Commons today. When questioned previously on the May Day shooting down over the Soviet Union of the American U2 plane, the Prime Minister contended there could be no public discussion of intelligence activities.

The Conservative Daily Mail in a front-page editorial today conceded that such secrecy was necessary but said that "to disclose whether or not Britain is consulted before any American flight which may involve her in a grave international incident is a different matter."

"There is reason to believe," said the Mail, "that she is not always consulted. It is said that the agreement which allows our government to veto operational flights by U.S. aircraft does not cover reconnaissance flights."

Britain, said the Laborite Daily Herald, "must know what goes on" at the American bases in Britain.

"We must know that (British) control is absolute," the Herald continued. "We must make sure that spy flights cannot take place without the knowledge of our Prime Minister."

The U.S. Air Force said originally that the plane was checking magnetic field off the coasts of Norway and the Soviet Union to get information for more accurate maps. The Liberal News Chronicle and the Conservative Telegraph said there was no reason to believe the Soviet charge that the RB47 was spying.

But the Chronicle pointed out that, with the U2 incident in the background, many persons would be suspicious.

"The Americans would do well to make extreme discretion the guiding principle for the activities of their aircraft based in their Allies' territory," the Chronicle went on. "The harm that can be done to Allied relations by the distrust these incidents cause is serious."

Monday, they went into closed caucus and heard an up-to-date report from Symington and his top campaign lieutenant, Rep. Charles Brown.

Brown readily conceded it looks as if Sen. John F. Kennedy is down at the two-yard line in his fight for the presidential nomination but added quickly: "He's not over the goal line yet."

Gov. James Blair came out of the caucus and reported: "The meeting determined there are too many things unsettled at this time. We will receive a report at another caucus Tuesday."

He didn't say what the unsettled things are. One might be the second spot on the ticket — for which Symington appears to be receiving increasing support.

Like all the other presidential contenders, Symington indicates he isn't interested in the vice presidential nomination. But that doesn't necessarily mean he wouldn't accept it.

Under the state convention instructions, the delegation is committed to vote for Symington until he releases them or until a majority decides he no longer has a chance.

If and when Symington releases it, the delegation is no longer bound by the unit rule.

Some Missouri delegates Monday were in the mood to toss in the sponge as far as the presidential nomination is concerned but nobody dared launch any serious efforts in those directions.

There are many who wouldn't be too disappointed if Symington won second spot on the ticket.

Mace-B Fires OK; Test Of Vibration Effect

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Mace-B guided missile has been launched for the first time from a hard site similar to that which will protect the missile when it is deployed at overseas bases.

The Air Force successfully fired the 44-foot rocket from the concrete shelter Monday. Primary purpose was to study the effect of noise and vibration on the missile's inertial guidance system when the engine ignites in a closed area. Project officials called the test satisfactory.

The Mace-B, with a range of more than 1,200 miles, is expected to be stationed in West Germany and Okinawa late in 1961. In Germany, it will replace the earlier Mace-A rocket.

North Korea Lacks

Migrating Koreans Take Necessities, Not Luxuries

TOKYO (AP) — Koreans migrating from Japan to Communist North Korea no longer take automobiles, washing machines, and transistor radios with them. They take clothing, bicycles, sewing machines, soap, drugs, razor blades, food and other consumer goods.

They learned from early repatriates that gasoline in North Korea is only for the privileged few, batteries for transistor radios are nonexistent, and electric current so weak washing machines won't work.

This is a part of the picture pieced together here, from intelligence sources and personal letters, of what has happened to the 30,231 Koreans who have gone to North Korea.

The repatriation program was initiated last December over the bitter objections of South Korea. It permits those Koreans so desiring, among the 600,000 in Japan, to go to North Korea in ships furnished by the Soviet Union.

The Koreans were being used largely as forced labor during and prior to World War II.

Chosen Soren, the North Korean Residents Assn., claims eventually 120,000 will go.

But a slight trend away from the journey into communism seems to be developing. The Japan Red Cross reports that 1,800 have now changed their minds. Other sources report a certain "hesitation" forming among Koreans still in Japan.

They attribute this to reports of those already repatriated and other factors.

South Korea now has a more democratic government, and life there may become more attractive. The initial repatriation fervor is wearing off. North Korean propaganda has slackened. Some letters of disillusionment and dissatisfaction have been received by friends in Japan.

The reports say the repatriates were first put into fine apartments in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, and other cities. Gradually they were moved to inferior housing in rural areas, where they went to work on farms and mines.

Salaries average 60 won or $25 monthly for nonskilled laborers. High wages are 80 won and extremely high wages up to 150 won, or $62. Work is divided into three eight-hour shifts, but repatriates have had to attend indoctrination classes in their spare time and "volunteer" additional working hours.

A North Korean pamphlet on the repatriates just received in Japan still depicts a life of smiling workers, recreation, comfort and happiness.

South Korea moves to better the livelihood of Korean residents in Japan and persuade them from joining the mass migration to Communist North Korea were announced July 9 by Ea Chai-hang, Korean minister in Tokyo.

He said the government of caretaker South Korean Premier Huh Chung has decided in principle to establish a five-million-dollar loan fund in Japan and to pour a considerable sum into a projected welfare fund for destitute Koreans in Japan.

Four Millionth Car of the Year Will Roll Off

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry will build the four millionth car of the calendar year sometime this week, almost a month ahead of the 1959 pace.

Last year the four million mark was reached on Aug. 13. The total at the end of last week stood at 3,925,579.

A strike at a Ford stamping plant in Cleveland caused sharp cutbacks in compact car output and delayed temporarily another production mark which had been in prospect for this week. Prior to the strike it had appeared the 1960 model run would top the entire 1959 model run total of 5,566,527 by Saturday.

Because of the strike, Ford built only 2,250 compact Falcons and Comets last week compared with almost 15,000 in the previous week. With the two smaller cars, Ford has been the leading builder of compact models.

Standings in the compact car production race remained steady with Rambler holding a 16,000 margin over Falcon. Valiant is third, Corvair fourth, Comet fifth and Lark sixth for the calendar year.

Oldsmobile has begun pilot production of its new compact car, the F-85 but not in any volume. The Pontiac Tempest and Buick Special will be entering production shortly, as will the Dodge Lancer, another smaller entry.

All four cars will be introduced this fall with the Lancer debut slated for September. The GM entries probably will go on sale in mid-October.

'If You Only Had the Figure It Would Probably Fit You'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Here are remarks from window shoppers that make it hard for department store dummies to keep their plaster faces straight:

"Any woman could look happy in a window if she didn't have to worry about who would wash it." "Honey, if I thought it would really make you like me any better, I would buy you a thousand dresses like that—but, you know, with only three credit cards to his name a man can only afford so much."

"Oh, Marge, if only once I saw me dressed up like that! I know he'd call me again."

"Yes, Myrtle, I agree. The dress was made for you. And if you only had one thing more—the figure—it would probably fit you."

"I always like to see the families in store windows. They seem to be having more real fun than the families I know in real life." "That's the way I'd like my wife to be—all dressed up, going nowhere, and with her mouth shut forever!"

"Really, Joe, I don't see why you fight so hard against wearing Bermuda shorts. All men have hairy legs. You see that dummy on the left wearing shorts? You've got better knees than he has—except, maybe, they're not so pink."

"When she phoned me she said it would be great if I met her at eight outside Macy's. But already it's half past. I wonder did she really say it would be fine if I met her at nine outside Gimbel's."

"Sure it's nice to see you. But now that I see you, what in hell's been keeping you?"

"Oh, I think I'd be happy forever if I could wear a wedding dress like that—at least once."

"Well, Dr. Huebacht, I'm probably here for the same reason you are. We psychiatrists get weary of listening all day to live women lying down on a couch complaining about nothing. It is a pleasure on the way home to pause outside a window and stare at dummy model women standing up and complaining about nothing. The total information is the same, but the change of posture is refreshing."

"Maybe if I took up the hem, and dyed it, and changed the waistline and put in a tuck here and there, the one I bought last year would look like the one they're showing this year. Anyway, if I put it on upside down, my husband wouldn't notice the difference."

"I dare you to go in and ask the price. If you do, I may try it on myself."

Watches Dragging For His Body; False Alarm

BALTIMORE (AP) — James Ackman of suburban Sunset beach, was among the interested spectators as volunteer firemen dragged the water off Orchard Beach for a reported drowning victim.

All during the unsuccessful search the 15-year-old boy hoped, like everyone in the crowd, that the whole thing would be a false alarm.

Then a friend spotted the teenager.

For obvious reasons the search for James Ackman's body was called off. The youth hadn't known that he had been reported missing, and that the firemen were searching for him.

Paint Doesn't Mollify

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chesterfield Johnson didn't appreciate the painting job his friend, Harold Conway, did in his house Sunday.

Johnson turned up in police court Monday with his face streaked with green paint.

He told magistrate Calvin A. Douglass that he and his friend had been drinking early Sunday, but Conway became boisterous and he ordered him out of the house.

Conway came back later with a wide paint brush and a can of paint. He swabbed Johnson's face as he slept.

Conway, 28, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault by painting.

The phoney Black-Eyed Susans are frequently taken for Sun-flowers.

Cliches Come In Early As Orators Start

By SAUL PETT
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is clear who won individual honors at the opening session of the Democratic National Convention.

To Paul Ziffren, chairman of the California Convention Committee, went the distinction of being the first orator to refer to "the last syllable of recorded time."

This occurred at 6:18 p.m. He also became the first speaker to mention "our rendezvous with destiny," a phrase which hasn't failed the Democrats in 27 years.

Paul M. Butler, retiring national chairman, was first to the wire with "the whole world is watching us" and "peace is our business."

Butler also was the only speaker of the evening to excite applause with a promise of nonappearances in the future. He got the hand by saying, "This is the last time I shall address you as national chairman."

In his 5 1/4-year tenure, Butler has proved one of the most controversial party chairmen of the century, a fact referred to with something less than obliqueness.

He said, "If the national committee has taken a stand on issues, it has not taken a stand of men." He denied again Harry Truman's charge by insisting the convention has had "no rigging whatsoever."

Butler won other honors. He was the first speaker to mention Franklin D. Roosevelt, and he easily ran off with the Oscar for the best alliteration by blasting the enemy for "eight years of golfing and goofing."

The question of who on the platform showed up with the lowest cut dress remained a Hollywood standoff between Shelley Winters and Janet Leigh. They were part of an all-star film chorus which was introduced to the convention and led the faithful in singing the national anthem.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California was the first to declare, "We are here to nominate the next president of the United States"—a statement of hope likely to be repeated 86 times before the week is out.

The governor gave one of two welcoming speeches. The other was supplied by Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles, who appeared completely recovered from his last appearance before a national TV audience last fall. That was when he was nearly blasted off a podium by a visiting politician named Nikita Khrushchev.

The Oscar for the most literal gestures of the evening went without contest to Frank Church, 35, youngest member of the United States Senate and convention keynote. In his blue suit and white shirt and carefully timed pauses and studied modulations and memorized speech, he reminded many of a promising prep school orator.

Throughout, Church was highly visual. One hand shot down for falling farm prices and one hand shot up for rising costs. Each point of a five-point indictment of the Republicans was ticked off in the air, one finger at a time. When he pleaded for "solemn reason" from the delegates, he pleaded with both arms up and out.

But Church's most effective gesture came when he said, "To sweeten private life, stores display a billion bottles of deodorant, yet a modest bill to reduce the stench from our polluted public rivers was vetoed."

For the first part of his sentence Church crossed his arms over his chest and flapped his hands under his armpits.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Delegates to the Democratic convention didn't have to go to Hollywood. Hollywood came to them.

Outside the Sports Arena Monday, there paraded five outlandishly costumed people—obviously supposed to be beatniks. They carried signs exhorting:

"Win with Matthew Harrison Brady of Weeping Water, Neb." By an astonishing coincidence, Matthew Harrison Brady is the name of a character in a forthcoming motion picture.

Butler Says, 'Don't Fight' To Democrats

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Outgoing National Chairman Paul Butler, involved in one party squabble after another for 5 1/2 years, has offered this parting advice to Democrats: Don't squabble.

In a speech he described as his valedictory, Butler told the opening session of the Democratic National Convention Monday night that the party must put aside inner strife to tackle a more important issue. He described that as the national problem of survival.

"For the first time in history," he said, "the ultimate issue before the nation is so much bigger, so far beyond any carping intra-party considerations, that they do not belong in the same decade, to say nothing of the same convention."

Butler said he would retire the day after the convention adjourns, "not a day later and, in spite of some helpful suggestions . . . not one day sooner." The convention probably will adjourn Friday.

In his years as chairman Butler has engaged in running public debates with several factions of the party, particularly the Southern wing. Southerners have objected to his strong views for action on civil rights.

Most recently he has been involved in an argument over whether he has rigged the present convention in favor of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Butler has denied this, and he re-

R. V. Williams Family Home From Vacation

By Mrs. B. A. Bridges
SYRACUSE—Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Williams and RaVana returned home after a vacation trip in the east. They visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Williams and family, Warwick, Va. While there and enroute home they did a lot of sight seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Elmore and three children, Portland, Ore., who are visiting Mrs. Elmore's father, James Self, in Sedalia, visited a day with Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bridges and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Self.

He denied his denial in the speech Monday night.

While calling on Democrats to unite because of national problems, Butler did not hesitate to attack Republicans.

He characterized the Eisenhower administration as "eight years of golfing and goofing." And he chided Republicans for campaigning in the past on a slogan of peace and prosperity.

"Even the Republicans know it isn't really peace — and it isn't really prosperity, either," the chairman said. "It is just an uneasy armistice."

During the years of Republican administration, he continued, the Russians have "surpassed us in space, in certain classes of armament, in many areas of education, and, certainly, in the race of prestige and influence."
